

ITC * * * * * KORINNA®

has an art nouveau heritage that has endowed it with distinctive shapes that help to differentiate characters.

For example, a single storied ‘g’ normally is not as legible as the somewhat more common “loop and bowl” version found in type styles like Times New Roman or Baskerville. ITC Korinna, however, has a very distinctive hook to the g’s descending stroke. Other traits that help to insure ITC Korinna’s high legibility factors are its relatively large x-height, strong – but not dominant – serifs, and character strokes that are sturdy while benefiting from a slight weight contrast. * * *
